Losing My Mind

Something for Kate

I was watching this monkey, this monkey watching me
And I needed a friend or some company
Cause some days I just cant flick the switch
Some days my skin just isnt so thick
Im just here, and Im just hearing
I get lost inside the endless wires
Helpless as the neurons fire
Ill be up all night, waiting for the punch line
If Im losing my mind, one day at a time
Then I wont hold my breath waiting for the punch line
So turn the house upside down
To find something worth thinking about
And patiently watch the walls close in on me
I stare into space until I see its space thats staring into me
We talk a while, we say our goodbyes
If Im losing my mind, one day at a time
From talking to myself
If I travel through time, one day at a time
Then I wont hold my breath, hold my breath
Hold my breath
No I wont hold my breath
I said I wont hold my breath
If Im losing my mind, one day at a time
From talking to myself, talking, talking
If I travel through time, one day at a time
Then I wont hold my breath waiting for the punch line
