

Easy

Surrogate

All at once I had the means to match my ample time
It almost makes me sad, it happened because someone died
I'd been waiting for years to say

I'm sorry to hear and yeah, he was a great manBut I like to think that I at least in some small way

Make him happy as I live my endless holiday

Doing things that he worked too hard to ever do

He would have wanted it this wayBut who really knows

You know what they say, easy come, easy go

You know it doesn't make a difference in the long run

Difference in the long runEasy come, easy go

You know it doesn't make a difference in the long run

Difference in the long runI remember the last time I ever saw his face

I would see him once a year around the holidays

Little gifts under trees were never quite like thisI'd say I put my time in

I remember where I was when I first heard

Bittersweet bad news is the best

I quit my job for the wake and never came backEasy come, easy go

You know it doesn't make a difference in the long run

Difference in the long runEasy come, easy go

You know it doesn't make a difference in the long run

Difference in the long runEasy come, easy go

You know it doesn't make a difference in the long run

Difference in the long runEasy come, easy go

You know it doesn't make a difference in the long run

Difference in the long run
