

Let It Burn

Citizen Soldier

Take my hand and look me in the eye, There's still time left...
Cut these chords and kid run for your life...Maybe you're broken, maybe you're shattered
With no reasons left to try
But you still have so much, so much worth saving
That you have left on the inside...I know you feel like you are worthless, and that your day has come
The misery eats you alive until you come undone
You feel like there is nowhere left to call your home tonight
But you are not alone, this is our time, and I am by your side...
My friend this is do or die!Hey kid can you hear me?
Don't you dare pull the trigger and throw it all away
You have every reason left to stay alive
All this hell you've lived and seen
Drown it all in gasoline
And light a match, pull the pin
You are not, who you've been
The past is just lessons learned
So light it up, and let it burn...Never thought that it would come to this, Who will save you?
Fading fast, now you are cancerous...I know you feel hopeless, at the end of your rope now
The fear is eating you alive
So I'll be your reason
I'll be your shelter
I will not let you say goodbye...
Have you no reason to forget your pain and swear you'll stay?
If you
Kiss it all goodbye, my friend, the world will be a darker place
I know you're scared to death, but this is not the time to hide
You were meant for so much more
I won't let you leave this world behind...What will it take to survive?Hey kid can you hear me?
Don't you dare pull the trigger and throw it all away
You have every reason left to stay alive
All this hell you've lived and seen
Drown it all in gasoline
And light a match, pull the pin
You are not, who you've been
The past is just lessons learned
So light it up, and let it burn...You will remember the day
You burn it all to the ground
I know you've heard this before
But you've gotta be strong now

This is not the end! Hey kid can you hear me?
Don't you dare pull the trigger and throw it all away
You have every reason left to stay alive
All this hell you've lived and seen
Drown it all in gasoline
And light a match, pull the pin
You are not, who you've been
The past is just lessons learned
So light it up, and let it burn... Let it Burn
Let it Burn
The past is just lessons learned
So light it up, and let it burn...
