

You Say You

Bob Mould

Confusion all the time
Passion and aggression, it's a real fine line
The pendulum it swings
You keep pushing buttons while I'm pulling strings You say you want it now, yeah
But you only want it now and then
You say you want it back again You've said enough
Everything you say, it isn't so
Everything you say you Intentions never clear
Hide behind the surface of a mighty thin veneer
And the cycles of despair
We go round and round, up and down, and no one seems to care You say you want it now, yeah
But you only want it now and then
You say you want it back again You've said enough
Everything you say, it isn't so
Everything you say you

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>