

War Is Good

Corporate Avenger

It's like the powers-that-be have totally outlawed living,
The natural way, the way that we were meant to live.
You know, if you wanna hunt, or you wanna fish, you know You've gotta be in land. And if you're somewhere in land,
It's trespassing against somebody these days and they'll put you In jail. So, if you wanna hunt, or fish, you've Gotta get a liscense, and in order to get a liscense, you gotta
Work. And when you work, they take a portion of your pay, the sweat Off your back, and funnel it towards their military machine of Killing and death and sorrows. I'm not A Child Of Adam And Eve
I don't need to believe in the wrongs from rights
In your schools and in your brain
You're so insane you claim you're right You say- War is good
And war is right

Another mother cries tonight, alright A killer, you keep working, and working, and working
And they keep taking, and taking, and taking They'll throw you a few little crumbs
They'll give you a home, a car, a television, a vacation

Someday you might even have a little bank account that you're scared to lose. You stole the sweat right off my back

Load me up with lies, not facts
Still you do not answer for 500 years of lies and sorrows War is good
War is right
Another mother cries tonight
War is right
War is fun

Steal my money, build your guns It's like you never really own anything. You're only holding on to it. Cause when you die, the Government comes and takes half of what you worked for, even though they've already taxed you for a large percentage. They funnel all that money to their coffers, which go mostly towards spending on weapons of destruction. As the metal burns and the powder catches on fire, destroying the sacred lights of human beings who were put on this Earth to grow together in a sacred manner.

It's all a bunch of bullshit actually. Take it to another level.

Take it to another level.

Take it to another level.

Take it to another level. War is good

War is right

Another child cries tonight

War is right

War is good
'Til it's in your neighborhoodWar is good
War is right
Another father dies tonight
War is right
War is fun
Steal my money, build your gunsTake it to another level.
Take it to another level.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>