Eternal Rest

Mistweaver

Black enchanting eyes cut through my heart
With no regret or sign of life
They tear apart my pride and cold runs through my veins
I feel their stare from miles haunting every step
And they won't stop hunting me downI know the time will come when all around me's burned
And you'll still see me there asking where you went too
And what person brought you here
And why you left the burning children cold out in the night
And calling for you all aloneDark in their hearts, I can feel it burn inside of me
Tormented young with no souls haunting me
Pain in their lives all they know is misery
Take these chains away that are holding me down
Holding me downThey'll find you alone and your desperate and villainous ways
Turning their hearts into stone they seek more then vengeance
Look in their eyes, your pain is their satisfaction
Look in their eyes and see the darkness take hold(Waiting for)
I'm consumed by fate
(Waiting for)
Tired of your parade
(Waiting for)
No sign of vengeance
(Waiting)
Burn for the rest of timeHear the haunting words, lost children with no heart are crying
And you're the lost mother they're calling
Go now, run and hideI hear them crying at night outside when the planets are falling
They want to feel and know you hear them
Go now, run and hideDark in their hearts, I can feel it burn inside of me
Tormented young with no souls haunting me
Pain in their lives all they know is misery
Take these chains away that are holding me down
Go now, run and hideEternal rest in time
Eternal rest in time

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/