Chaney Can't Quite Riff Like Helmet's Page

Evergreen Terrace

through black and blue, through thick and thin it takes much more to break this skin looks like we've finally made it this time we finally made itwe've had our backs against the wall and all you've said we've proven wrong
this time we finally made itwe give and we take, we bend and we break but that's just the life that we've chosen this sinking ship will not be abandonedwe're under the radar, we're under the rug but that's just the way that we've broken fall in line to get what you've needed out of time, so take it or leave it now through black and blue, through thick and thin
looks like we've finally made it
this time we finally made itwe've had our backs against the wall
this time we finally made itwe've lost and we've won, but the damage is done but that's just the life that we've chosen this sinking ship will not be abandonedyou're here and you're gone, but we're moving on nothing is left unspoken the bottom line is all that we're after another dime to silence your laughter nowone more time, one more try one more time, one more try bright eyes have fallen far but hold tight, a black moon's on the rise cross lines with battle scars we know, you get what you pay for get what you pay forbright eyes have fallen far but hold tight, a black moon's on the rise
we know, you get what you pay forthrough black and blue, through thick and thin it takes much more to break this skin
looks like we've finally made it
this time we finally made itwe've had our backs against the wall
and all you've said we've proven wrong
this time we finally made itthrough black and blue, through thick and thin

looks like we've finally made it
this time we finally made itwe've had our backs against the wall
and all you've said we've proven wrong
this time we finally made it
