plamo million sellers

We all find ourselves
In honor of the good cause
How empty we've become
With our sight to be the true forceDoes every instinct say you're right?
I think sometimes there is doubtYou're waiting for a re-run
 But yesterday won't come
 Want to relive the moment
But yesterday is goneLies and desperation lead us through
 As we're trying to be heroic
 Straight the world to what you manage
Take a step back, I'll tie you to itYou're waiting for a re-run
 But yesterday won't come
 Want to relive the moment
But yesterday is doneHopes and prayers in pursuit of salvation
 Take a short cut, it all depends on the cost
 But as far as I remember there is nothing
That will get back the days you lostDoes every instinct say you're right?
I think sometimes there is doubtYou're waiting for a re-run
 But yesterday won't come
 Want to relive the moment
 But yesterday is done
