

One Breath Away

Karnataka

Every night I walk through the same dream
Silver sand beneath my feet
So sweet the air that I breathe
Can't forget what I have seen Searching for a reason to be here
I have come to this strange land
It hides a secret inside
Like the echoes of my mind So what does it mean
Ask me is this art or illusion
Is it real or fantasy?
Living this virtual life in a new reality
Everything changing far away with every Day after day we're only one breath away
But we go on, to play this endless game
Try to fight because there's nowhere to hide
And then we see the world we've made Lost in these distorted reflections
I watch my body twist and turn
Which way, which door should I take
When every one looks just the same My destiny calling far away with every Day after day we're only one breath away
But we go on, to play this endless game
Try to fight because there's nowhere to hide
And then we see the world we've made
