

Stranger's Again

Holly Dunn

Strangers again just like before
Not even friends after bein' much more
Strangers again and will be forever
It hurts when love ends as strangers again I always thought a stranger was someone I'd never met
But the one who passed me by today I know too well to forget
We're strangers again, back where we started
But we'll never begin 'cause we're strangers again I always thought a stranger was someone I'd never met
But the one who passed me by today I know too well to forget
We're strangers again, back where we started
But we'll never begin 'cause we're strangers again
It hurts when love ends as strangers again
