

It's a War

Carole King

The moon is full and I'm awake
And I don't know how much I can take
Before I get too angry to be sad
Too many people thinkin' mean
Good ones few and far between
Takin' out on you what they never had
It's a war, war, war, any more
It's a war, war, war, every day
You've got to keep your guard up
If someone else is hard up
He'll try to steal your dreams away
Once I thought of compassion as
A feelin' everybody has
Do unto others, that's the golden rule
But I found to my regret
People I had never met
Were out to get me, I was just a fool
It's a war, war, war, any more
It's a war, war, war, every day
You've got to keep your guard up
If someone else is hard up
He'll try to steal your dreams away

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>