

Today

John Frusciante

Sirens sounding out, are we going to war
A film of yesterday on a broken down door
Send me something real to ignore or explore
And I'll show you all the things that I saw

Today

The words don't mean enough for us to say
For us to say

Today

To steal the moment that we gave away
We gave away
Gave it away

Can't remember when, but it's happened before
Saw it all played out through a crack in the door
Send me something good for the way that I feel
And I'll show you all the things that I've seen

Today

The words don't mean enough for us to say
For us to say

today

To steal the moment that we gave away
We gave away

Today

We are the light that travels into space
Into space

We are the light that travels into space
We are the light that travels into space
We are the light that travels into space
We are the light that travels into space
We are the light that travels into space

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>