

Of Love & Lies

Out With the Old

Let's sit and talk
And wait all day
Just so that we can fight again
I'm tired of this, you know my opinion
If you wanted me gone
You should have said it by now
The fact I'm still awake
And laying in this bed alone
Should be enough for you to know
That I still fucking care
My body's skinnier than ever before
The food on my plate doesn't taste the same
My body's breaking
My skin is tearing I think I'll be fine
Maybe I'll see you in the morning
I'll see you in the morning
Who is there for me?
Am I destined to walk this god forsaken earth alone
Not sure how much longer I can take
These night's all by myself
Trying to figure out
What would be, the easy way to leave this state of mind
It's a lot harder than it seems
When no one is here for me
My body's skinnier than ever before
The food on my plate doesn't taste the same
My body's breaking
My skin is tearing I think I'll be fine
Maybe I'll see you in the morning
I'll see you in the morning
Just because I smile and laugh
Doesn't mean I'm not dying on the inside
It's the things you don't see
The things you won't hear
My body's skinnier than ever before
The food on my plate doesn't taste the same
My body's breaking
My skin is tearing I think I'll be fine
Maybe I'll see you in the morning
I'll see you in the morning

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>