Live the Life

The Twang

I was feeling inspired, now I'm just feeling tired
Of your winging your moaning, just leave me alone
I except what you're saying but the tunes that you're playing
They do nothing for me so just let it beLive the life you love and your life will love you
You're holding on to things that were never really thereYou're a fake and you know it, one mistake and you'll blow it
To a place far away, it's more than a payday
So don't get the fear and ignore all the sneers
You just get one life, you don't get it twiceLive the life you love and your life will love you
You're holding on to things that were never really there
Live the life you love and your life will love you
You're talking down to me, I well above you
Live the life you love and your life will love you
You're holding on to things that were never really thereWell, there are trays full of tryers
And layers of liars and acres of acts are no goodLive the life you love and your life will love you
You're holding on to things that were never really there
Live the life you love and your life will love you
You're talking down to me, I well above you
Live the life you love and your life will love you
You're holding on to things that were never really there
So live the life you love.Well, there are trays full of tryers
And layers of liars and acres of acts are no good

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/