

The Different Ones

Number One Gun

Have you noticed what you started?
Does it matter who you are?
And these necessary movements
They just make you fall apart
And you try so hard It's a game you play
When you're always second best
I've made the same mistakes
But all this is a message to the different ones
So take this for yourself this time You've been watching with your sore eyes
But all you know is lies
And it kills me every time
You complain about your life
That you're wasting time and you're standing still It's a game you play
When you're always second best
I've made the same mistakes
But all this is a message for the different ones
So take it for yourself this time again you'll find
That hope is standing on your side I've seen days, I've seen days, I've seen better days
I keep thinking I'm falling, falling apart
I'm the same, I'm the same, I'm still the same
I keep asking myself if I'm ready to start
With giving till I'm happier It's a game you play
When you're always second best
I've made the same mistakes
But all this is a message to the different ones
So take it for yourself this time again you'll find
That hope is standing by your side

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>