

Let England Shake

PJ Harvey

The west's asleep, let England shake
Weighted down with silent dead
I fear our blood won't rise again
Won't rise again England's dancing days are done
Another day, Bobby, for you to come
Home and tell me indifference
Is won, won, won Smile, smile Bobby, with your lovely mouth
Pack up your troubles, let's head out
To the fountain of death and splash about
Swim back and forth, back, back and laugh out loud Until the day is ending
And the birds are silent in the branches
And the insects are courting in the bushes
And by the shores heavy stones are falling Smile, smile Bobby, with your lovely mouth
Pack up your troubles and let's head out
To the fountain of death and splash about
Swim back and forth, back, back and laugh out loud
