

King Of Broken Hearts

Ringo Starr

Can you guess what I'm thinkin' of?
Where's someone that I can love?
I just don't know where to start
I'm a king of broken hearts I was waiting for the bells to ring
My love for her keeps lingering
Praying that she'd wear my ring
Waiting for the crowd to sing I'm the king of broken hearts
I've lost before I ever start to love, again
I'm the king of broken hearts
I'd give it all away to find a friend, again
Again Where's the dream I had before?
She just walked right out the door
I want her back and nothin' more
Her note fell on the bedroom floor I'm the king of broken hearts
I've lost before I ever start to love, again
I'm the king of broken hearts
I'd give it all away to find a friend, again A heart's no good when it's been broken
Words of love are often spoken
My tears fall like jewels from a crown Look how fast the tide can turn
Some people live but never learn
I can make a brand new start
Livin' in a land of broken hearts Yeah, I'm the king of broken hearts
I've lost before I ever start to love, again
I'm the king of broken hearts
I'd give it all away to find a friend, again
I'm the king of broken hearts
I've lost before I ever start to love, again
Again

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>