Where Did We Go Wrong

Gary Moore

Ever since it all began, a woman and an only man
What happened to the world in which we're living?
We take when all this time we could be giving
And I ask myself each day, where did we go wrong?
And I wonder when I pray, where did we go wrong?Ever since it all began, one woman and a lonely man
I worry for the world in which we're living
We take when all this time we could be giving
And I ask myself each day, where did we go wrong?
And I wonder when I pray, where did we go wrong?With every turn our world is growing older
But does it mean our hearts are turning colder?
With every teardrop falls a shining star
It seems so wrong but now we've come so farAfter all is said and done, I know I'm not the only one
Who worries for this world in which we're living
Who cares about the love we should be giving
And I ask myself each day, where did we go wrong?
And I wonder when I pray, where did we go wrong?
