Rebirth

Exude

Once again, once again, once again
We start again
Once again, once again, once again
We start againNo one there, there's only me
I don't need no sympathy
No one there, there's only me
I don't need no sympathyNo one there, there's only me
I don't need no sympathy
No one there, there's only me
I don't need no sympathyNo one there, there's only me
I don't need no sympathy
No one there, there's only me
I don't need no sympathyLike they rose from the dead again
Such fools shot me straight through the head again
Blessed as the children of Endo saw
That sword strike through less than the penSurfacing from primordial war
We are the sons and daughters of Thor
'Cause take a pretense to the slaughter
Leave other serians on Jordan quartersAs we woke that morning
Human, best that we skip the foreman
Ice grinning, torettes still pouring
Fishman crafting, crying out, callingLovers have been absorbing endorphins
We're just an unsuccessful abortion
Spartan boys, raised for waring
Who told them we are reborn againNo one there, there's only me
I don't need no sympathy
No one there, there's only me
I don't need no sympathyRise again
We'll start againWe'll start againRise again, rise again, rise again
We'll start again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/