

Follow Me

Rufio

Album: 1985 (2003) You're all i see these days but you're so far away this dream is never ending your falling thru my broken mind finally showing some passion ive been caught up this time these shattered eyes have broken over the thought of leaving you but i must go inside my heart i still spend time on on first thinking that you've stolen my heart im giving in to you and entrapped my mind i see there is no difference were still alone im lost again so come home with me tonight we'll wait till dark turns light cant fight this feeling in my soul im lost in thoughts silence evolves no way your gone no way your gone follow me home i feel the same for you something strange in me were still alone but there is no difference there is no need in crying there is no need in dying it makes no difference were still alone we'll wait till dark turns light cant fight this feeling in my soul so come home with me tonight and if your gone silence evolves im lost in thoughts and if your gone follow me home we'll wait till dark turns light so come home with me tonight im lost in thoughts cant fight this feeling in my soul silence evolves no way your gone no way your gone follow me home no way your gone silence evolves no way and youre gone

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>