The Face

GENTRI

Traveler of the great divide vagrant on a path to light. everyday feels a little closer, To where it is that your headed for given to a hope of so much more.
for every time you fall apart there'll be a soul to guide your journey but if you choose to turn away, there in the mirror you'll see my face
you'll see my face
Think your on this road alone, looking for a truth untold many times you've been close to breaking giving up and letting go something inside says it's not over.
For every time you fall apart
there'll be a soul to guide your journey
but if you choose to turn away there in the mirror you'll see my face, my face
And when the world crowds your space, remember days when noise was silent no empty vows, loveless displays just a sense of knowing you'd see my face
you'd see my face

Lyrics Submitted by Patty Mulder

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/