

Call Me Old-Fashioned

Bradley Walker

I believe in making my money the hard way,
so I work for it.
And every job I do, I do it proud.
And I believe in keeping a promise that I've made.
You've got my word on it, when I shake your hand and look you in the eye.
And I believe in old glory, puting your hand over your heart.
Taking off your hat, when that athem starts.Call me old fashioned, call me out of touch.
For having things in the way it was.
When mom and dad was a place you shoped and chain was good for cashing.
Call me out of style, that's who I am,
when the neightbour's down and I reach out my hand.
And open up lady's door without her asking.
Call me old fashioned.
I believe a man should have to ask permission, for a womans name,
before he gets down on one kwee.
And I believe in passing down traditions,
every chance you can,
so children learn what family means.
Sitting around in the table every night at 6 o'clock,
talking about your day with the TV off.Call me old fashioned, call me out of touch.
For having things in the way it was.
When a gold bang in someone's head everlasting.
Call me out of style, that's who I am,
I believe kids need mom and a dad.
They were worth now and the problem you are having.
Call me old fashioned.
Call me out of style, thats who I am.
I still say yes sir, and thank you ma'am.
And where are those kids that pray in school before the classes.
Sometimes I shake my head and ask my self "What happened?"Call me old fashioned
Call me old fashioned
