

O My My

Ani DiFranco

Your body foreshortened below your shoulders
Your face so close, it's out of focus
Way down the hallway comes the sound of your shoes
That is what I, what I think about when I think about you
If we let our love off of its leash
Do you fear, like I fear how fierce it could be?
Your headlights sweeping across my ceiling
The breadth of my smile now, the depth of my feeling
Way down in my dark life, a shaft of your light shines through
And that is what I, what I think about when I think about you
If we let our love off of its leash
Do you fear, like I fear how fierce it would be?
