

Funny Face

Earl King

It must have been your funny face
It must have been your laugh
Must have been your paper chase
That wasn't quite enough Must have been your tiny dance
That made me laugh out loud
Must have been your angel dust
That put me on your cloud You're the reason why, yeah
You're the reason, I It must have been your love, oh
It must have been your love, I said
It must have been your love in a little bit
It must have been your love It must have been your poppy eyes
That made me step outside
Must have been the sight of tears
That let me know, I cried It must have been your bunny shake
It must have been your love
A lot of girls won't come around
They treat me like a wolf It must have been your love
It must have been your love, I said
It must have been your love, I gotta get that
It must have been your love You're my angel, baby
You're my darling, you're my star
Lo, Lo, Lo, Lolita, let her see me deep in love You're the reason why, yeah
You're the reason, I It must have been your love
It must have been your love, now
It must have been your love, oh no, no, I
It must have been your love You're my angel, baby
You're my darling, you're my star
Lo, Lo, Lo, Lolita, let her see me deep in love Lopsided eyes and a crooked frown
Make more of life just settle down
Every single little princess needs a crown
Make more of life just settle down It must have been your love
It must have been your love
It must have been your love
It must have been your love

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>