Matthew

Bombadil

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

playing checkers in the greatest hall made math and science school a little less not fun at allstudying all night for Dr. Kish's quiz at least you never caught Yersinia pestisLAN parties after lights out some got mad when we competed for the longest shoutSuspended for a week when i propped a door so we drove to Shawnee to get some tips from Rushmoreit was looking pretty bleak - would they let us stay?
But did we really want imprisonment anyway?Still, I'm pretty glad they let us back in You were a pretty shoddy roommate but I'd do it again Don't ever take for granted what you're givenMathew when they found you they had found you finding Jesus as well the poison had caught you in its spell did nobody bother you to tell the Catholics would banish you to ... well they should know that you're in a better part of hellMaking fun of Tyler and Aaron for being so fat and how Laura was such a bratdouble-cut punch right across the chin boxing during study time once and againand with a couple old foils we'd find and then party in the dark to Aphex TwinAlways kind of an ass, always making us laugh i used to like looking into the pastnow you're out of line, now you're out of time forever assholedid you really think you had it the worst of all? you had everything you ever needed except another head a little less conceited forget about the ones that once you neededMatthew when they found you they had found you finding Jesus as well the poison had caught you in its spell
did nobody bother you to tell
the Catholics would banish you to
well they should know that you're in a better part of hell than the darkness whence you fell beforeMatt when they found you they had found that you'd found Christ where you lay he gave you the strength to live, they say.

i think he gave you the strength to pass away he made you believe it was okay to produce all the pain and blame anchors away!
five hundred yesterdays before you took your breath away.not a lot to say nothing much to do there is a part of you in every of the ones you knew one of whom forever blue i only wish you knew that the gun that failed to fire beforehand tried to tell you nothing new Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/