Fantasy Memorial

Dinosaur Feathers

I've been so happy making my own way to the buried treasure of the day to day
I thought if I held my tongue dear, then my heart would turn - just another lesson to learnIf we're losing something beautiful
I'll build my fantasy memorialThis may feel new dear, but we've seen mirages before, rising early with the sun and casting shadows on the floor
There are no cameras, just our eyes and ears
They're our own souvenirsIf we're losing something beautiful
I'll build my fantasy memorialAnd you will see it
And you will feel it
Girl, like I felt youIf we're losing something beautiful
I'll build my fantasy memorialAnd you will see it
And you will feel it
And you will be there.
