Violently

Natalie Prass

The turning of space
Can't stop its rate
Only in time
Will it start to fade
And I feel the same
Can't stop my stream
I want to reach out
But I don't know which way
Break my legs because they want to walk to youI just want to know you violently
I've had enough of talking politely
The red is there. It's all over me
It's overlaid eloquentlyEach day I hide
The extent of my mind
Put away things I write
Until companionless nights
Wish I could turn it off or shred it
Wish forever rest
But as long as you're there
All my secrets compress
Now break my arms because they want to hold youI just want to know you violently
I've had enough of talking politely
The red is there. It's all over me
It's overlaid eloquentlyNow break all my bones because they all want youI just want to know you violently
I've had enough of talking politely
The red is there. It's all over me
It's overlaid eloquently
