

My Living Room

Em Possible

[Chorus]

Someone's rearranged my living room

Every space is changed

No matter what I seem to do

It just feels strange

I know something is out of place

It ain't the couch or the t.v.,

When I look at all the furniture

You're the missing piece

It ain't the same without

I feel misplaced without

Like I don't know how to live in this room[Verse: Em.Possible]

I moved the coffee table

And that big old chair

That one you used to sit in

I can still see you there

I bought some curtains and some pillows

Yeah they are real fine blue

Still there is something missing

From my living room

I rearranged my living room

I tried to make it feel

The way it did with you

For the love of still

And that's the real truth

Ooh, ooh[Chorus]

Yeah the space is changed

No matter what I seem to do

It just feels strange

I know something is out of place

It ain't the couch or the T.V.,

When I look at all the furniture

That you're the missing piece

It ain't that same without

I feel misplaced without

Like I don't know how to live in this room
