

The Noise of Silence

Schysma

Now Iâ€™m feel like nobody Lost My head
My soul begins to rot

Silence fills my sick mind
Want to scream
Nobody hears my pain

THE sight of souls
that I may not tell

My empty spirit is now dead
Wounded vein
My body grips in suspense

My faded brain is now frozen Please donâ€™t give Another chance to outlive
The sight of souls
grown So great in me
Like I cannot reveal
Condemned and prevailed

And So far
So we slowly paced through the rain that fell (no suspicion, have not suspicion)

Alone we are
For human semblance in fire shade
(no suspicion, have not suspicion)

rain in my mind

Lack of trust

the noise of silence

Itâ€™s beneath my notice
but memory fears to tell The sinners here contained in the sewers of Hell

And So far
So we slowly paced through the rain that fell
(no suspicion, have not suspicion)

Alone we are
For human semblance in fire shade
(no suspicion, I have not suspicion)

rain in my mind

Lack of trust

the noise of silence

The noise of silence blocks one moment from mine eyes
That locked and sealed us from the world: we heard
That locked and sealed us from the world: we heard
The steps recede.
