

Once Again

Tristam

As the sun steps down
and escapes the day,
we'll calmly walk away,
walk away from the fray. When the structure falls and all else fails,
we will build it once again! When the colors fade and it turns to gray
we'll calmly walk away,
walk away from the fray When structure falls
and all else fails,
we will build it once again We can climb high,
higher than before.
We can stand by
while it burns to the floor.
Though we cannot fly,
we will build and the wounds will mend
as we build it once again! We can climb high,
higher than before.
We can stand by
while it burns to the floor.
Though we cannot fly,
we will build and the wounds will mend
as we build it once again! We can climb high,
higher than before.
We can stand by
while it burns to the floor.
Though we cannot fly,
we will build and the wounds will mend
as we build it once again!

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>