Dreaming Casually

Thee Midniters

Thee Midniters Dreaming casually

once in a while just once in a while

I wish you would come up to me Tell me what you'd like to be Would you like to be rich and famous?
Sure, no one else could blame us For dreaming casually

If we let our cares just drift into space we can always find the time and the place maybe saturn or it may be mars the both of us just searching the stars just dreaming casually there many times try to analyze just what the future is made of

And as the minutes pass, stand to the looking glass what do I see lord?
it can't be me going oh so gracefully still the world goes round and though how hard I try it still keeps leaving me behind someday soon I'll know we'll all have to go so dreaming can't be that much of a crime

if we'd all forget about the past give the days much more to last Ive been told before the end is nearing but nevertheless I can't go on fearin' when I'm dreaming casually

just once in a while
