

Red Ball in Blue Sky

Edenbridge

Silence all over
The island lies asleep
The balance of your life
The beauty of the deepThis sapphire blue, this entrancing rendezvous
The art of seduction will take you away
What's happened before? Was it all that you longing for more?
An illusive devious path led astraySleepwalker, don't fear the moon
Daydreamer, don't wait till noon
The essence of life takes you further
Than you might have knownRise high
A red ball in a blue sky
A blazing scent will come by
The fortune smiles on youSun beams
The vantage point of your dreams
The salient spirits of youth
Through the kissing gates of your soul
Let all those blue skies inThe hyaline sea is waking a balefire in me
As plain as a pike staff becoming aware
By the tag end of doubt knowing no one can live without We're wielding the scepter of life so prepareRock bound your heart cannot feel Pounding the stones and reveal
Canyons and deserts
The indented coastlines at heartRise high
A red ball in a blue sky
A blazing scent will come by
The fortune smiles on youSun beams
The vantage point of your dreams
The salient spirits of youth
Through the kissing gates of your soul
Let all those blue skies inSilence all over
The island lies asleep
The balance of your life
The beauty of the deepThe inward journey goes
The spellbound of the sunrise dawn
Moves you from your faint hearted sky
So come to ally, key with lucent ocean wavesHere by the wishes of our dreams
Turn the blueprint to a quaint reality
And the jewel nature waits
In amenity of boundless cunning skies

Believe your aphelions are near the sunrise within
