Sickness

Under The Flood

Will you ever change?
All I see's the same thing.
Watched you run away, watched you run from me.
You were such a shame tonight with double crossed bloodshot eyes
She fell to the ground, well it's a long way down
I just wanted you to clarify, how the thrill was worth the ride
But she just sits and she cries
Ignoring all of the signs
Maybe she'll take the time
To stop and realize
She's got a sickness now
And she can't slow down
Better take a look at herself
You better take a look at yourself
You're not a wasted life
You're just afraid to try and fight the fear inside
To the fight the fear in your eyes

Too afraid to live your life
You're poisoned and paralyzed
She crawled down the stairs
But there was nobody there
All alone in an empty high
You're locked up and terrified
But she sits time after time
Avoiding all of the signs
Maybe she'll take the time
To finally realize
[Chorus]Well I'm not judging you, I'm not judging you
But look at yourself, just look at her
[Chorus]She's got a sickness now, and she can't slow down
She's got a sickness now, and she can't slow down.
