

Craving for Love

Jean B. Gerbier

Craving for love

You know sometimes in the last decade, our relationship took a wrong turn, in order for us to get to the bottom of it, we must be craving for more romance.
We finally realize that the same thing won't happen again.

Chorus

Craving for romance, in the summer times.
Craving for romance, in the Spring times.
Craving for romance, in the Autumn times.
Craving for romance, in the winter times.

I posted it on the internet, it was blown away by how enthralled people were. Many were claiming it was a sign that we were meant to be together.
We finally realize that the same thing won't happen again.
