

Any Ole Reason

Mark Chesnutt

I used to come in here maybe once or twice a year
But only when I had a good excuse
I'd have one or two then be on my way
But that's way before she told me we were through
Now any ol' reason will do, any ol' thing that I can use
The days, the nights, the clouds, the rain, the moon
I don't have to think about the love I live without
Or the heart she left that never will be used, really, any ol' reason will do
At first I told myself she'd never cross my mind
Unless I was to meet her eye to eye
And only when I felt alone would I turn her memory on Well, I guess that means I told myself a lie
Now any ol' reason will do, any ol' thing that I can use
The days, the nights, the clouds, the rain, the moon
I don't have to think about the love I live without
Or the heart she left that never will be used, really, any ol' reason will do
