

We'll Be There (From "Disney Fairies")

Thia Megia

We'll be there at the first breath of spring
When the birds start to sing and the grass starts growing We'll be there in the still summer heat
With the meadow's gleaming gold We'll be there on the crisp autumn days
With the leaves all ablaze
in the cool breeze blowing We'll be there for it all every year
As we've been since days of old For what if the world is wider than we ever knew?
And through all the seasons didn't we dream of something more? What if we brave the great unknown?
What if we're not so all alone?
What if it's you I'm searching for?
