

Power

Eskimeaux

wish i could love you less like a praying mantis rip your head off every time this starts to feel right wish i could love you less just love, that's it oh! how our song's been sung dropping petals one by one oh! what power can be drawn from just a day of being alone gotta keep in mind it's not always your fault the million tiny ways you make me feel small you can be so anti-social and i can just be terrible
don't be scared of losing or something that is ending love lies in the new things and "every past is worth condemning"
from just a day of being alone
