It All Kept Startin' Over Again

Fishbone

It all kept startin' over again with a different beginning and a different end It all kept startin' over again with a different beginning and a different end It all kept startin' over again with a different beginning and a different end It all kept startin' over again with a different beginning and a different end I flew to the nearest escape I ran from the land of rape I jumped in the krnked up pit I slipped on the peel of misfortune I skuttled over snakes and bacon bits I stumbled while tryin' to recover a fumble I scraped up the flattened and started again I leaped from within without a spring or a spin we be cyclin' in a cyclic way with a different beginning and a different end It all kept startin' over again with a different beginning and a different end It all kept startin' over again It all kept startin' over again with a different beginning and a different end I staggered from a glass of stout I sauntered onto a thinly paved scalp I took a loan I could not afford I launched up hi the halo in the sky I come up from beneath and remove the confining sheath I lurched forward in one solid direction I stood alone I slithered with stealth and snuck past the infection because I had to survive we recycle in a cyclic way It all kept startin' over again It all kept startin' over again with a different beginning and a different end with a different beginning and a different end It all kept startin' over again It all kept startin' over again with a different beginning and a different end with a different beginning and a different end Like a snotty nose spoilyor a booger eatin' bully scapegoat distraction is to keep from lookin' silly or a booger eatin' bully ugly on the inside Oh ya -- alright like a snotty nose spoily on the outside lookin' pretty oh ya -- alright amazed like this we recycle in a cyclic way we be cyclin' in a cyclic way maze like this lost in a daze like this we recycle in a cyclic way And it all kept startin' over again And it all kept startin' over again And it all kept startin' over again And it all kept startin' over again And it all kept startin' over again

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/