Daywalker

Cybin

Come down
To the depths of abnormality
Losing your sense of self worth
Faced with poverty or sensible assimilation
You feel so inertTaking back
The life you had Isn't easy when
You don't know who you areIt's all so fucking simple
You can't fly with broken wings
You're just like all the rest
Another puppet on a string
It's all so fucking stupid
Your life's become a lie
You're just like all the rest
Waiting in denialTrying to save yourself means
Having to break away from here
After the sky is falling down
You will arise with the sunBreak away
And take hold of all your property
You don't belong to you anymore
This banality is driving you senseless
And it just fucking hurtsFalsified
With no return
Doesn't matter when the truth is dying inside you?Trying to save yourself means
Dying to break away from here
After the sky comes falling down
You will arise with the sunIt's all too fucking easy
There's nothing left to hide
You're just like all the rest
Another motherfucking slave
And now it's fucking ugly
With nothing left to say
You're just like all the rest
Pissing life awayBecause it's so sad, sad
How the future has been compromised
Because it's so sad, sad
How the people have been victimisedNow the flames
Will burn away
Destroying

Lost without a name
oohCos it's the pressure
That's building deep inside
Underneath the mask that's worn
Under the disguise
Cos it's the cancer
That's eating up our lives
Underneath a world we see
Hidden from our eyes
It's the disguiseTrying to save yourself means
Dying to break away from here
After the sky comes falling down
You will arise with the sun
