

What Do They Know

Tanya Tucker

They say that life goes on
I'll find true love again
It's not the end of the world
One day my heart will mend Someone will come along and a new love will grow
That's what they say but what do they know
How could they know the pain I feel inside my heart
They never lost your love So who do they think they are
They never held you, or had to let you go
Well, they're not trying to live without you
So what do they know They say all is fair in love
But for me that's just not true
I feel like someone took a knife
And cut my life in two
