April Fools And Eggmen

Fair To Midland

Rest assured they're weighing words in sympathetic ink
And they don't waste their time suspending disbelief
They face the facts with thinking caps, they map out and display
But that's not the only wayCommon sense won't pay the rent and doesn't grow on trees
But splitting hairs can get you anything you need
Who would have thought connecting dots might get you to the point?
But charities and remedy, almost as much as modestyTake the bait and save however much it takes
Before you've made your wish, however much it takesRest assured they're weighing words in sympathetic ink
And I don't waste my time suspending disbelief
Masterminds want bottom lines to map out and display
If I have every bit of faith I won't be turning in my graveTake the bait and save however much it takes
Before you've made your wish, however much it takesTake your own advice before you take a side
Run for middle groundTake the bait and save however much it takes Before you've made your wish, however much it takes Before you lie in bed, however much it takes
