Remember

Steve Von Till

Pain is rising, deep inside i've been dying, i've been trying call my name in lonely nights and where the love goes is where the wind blows I can remember all the things that you said will i remember can i remember i see emotion in your eyes
will i remember can i remember
If i was just a sailor could i sail without a boat if i ever had a harbour i would never loose my hope you turn my inspiration, you turn the world with me if i ever had a harbour i would be the deepest sea
if i was just a sailor could i sail without a boat
if i ever had a harbour i would never loose my hope
you turn my inspiration, you turn the world with me
if i ever had a harbour i would be the deepest sea Pain is rising, so deep inside 'cause i've been dying, so deep inside

Loneliness is killing me
i've been dying, i've been trying live your life and let mine be cause where the love goes is where the wind blows
I can remember all the things that you said
will i remember, can i remember i see the motion in your soul
will i remember, can i remember
If i was just a sailor could i sail without a boat
if i ever had a harbour i would never loose my hope
you turn my inspiration, you turn the world with me
if i ever had a harbour i would be the deepest sea
if i was just a sailor could i sail without a boat
if i ever had a harbour i would never loose my hope
you turn my inspiration, you turn the world with me
if i ever had a harbour i would be the deepest sea Pain is rising

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/