

The Observer

Enfield

[Music: A. Nasseri / Lyrics: A. Nasseri] So all the stars
Will guide us on our way
The Sextant as a leader
Has duration for all days Look at the amazing sky
In long and profound discoveries
With a strong and a clear mind he's encryping
Secrets of astronomy In endless nights
He observes the sky
This publications will change the world Galileo Galilei Only what my eyes will see, I will believe!
Day and night - seperated by the light In Pisa he's required
To teach the theory
That the stars and all the planets
Revolve around the earth
But he believed
In a different truth
The helocentric one
Proposed by Kopernikus
A new age had begun The stolen sun
Made their fear rise
And man had sacrificed
A shadow was the reason why And all the servants of the cross - they will deny
Will deny the starlight In Pisa he's required
To teach the theory
That the stars and all the planets
Revolve around the earth
But he believed
In a different truth
The helocentric one
Proposed by Kopernikus
A new age had begun

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>