

Our Flags At Half Mast

Cannons and Clouds

[singing] I'll rest my hands 'til I find faith, and say no prayer for our days. I will fold my arms 'til work finds me, and go back to school 'cause that's what I need. But I know better, and they don't know us. Let's hold back a tear for those we've lost. Curse this new year at any cost. We shall clench our fists at wealthy souls, and spread jealousy from young to old. We know better, and they don't know us. You know better, and I will tell them. I know better, and they don't know us
