

The New Kings (iv) Why Is Nothing Ever True?

Marillion

Remember a time when you thought that you mattered,
Believed in the school song, die for your country - a country that cared for you
All in it together?

If it ever was more than a lie or some naïve romantic notion

Well, it's all shattered now

It's all shattered now Why is nothing ever true?

Why is nothing ever true?

Why is nothing ever true?

Why is nothing ever true?

Well do you remember a time when you thought you belonged to something more than you?

A country that cared for you

A national anthem you could sing without feeling used or ashamed

You poor sods have only yourselves to blame

On your knees, peasant

You're living for the New King

You're living for the New King

You're living for the New King.
