Surround Yourself With Sorrow

Cilla Black

Watch the water falling down
Falling down outside your head
You do your best to turn the tide
But can't forget everything he said
The pressure's getting far too great
The word together came too lateWhat do you do when your love breaks up?
Do you fall apart like a butter cup?
Forget about tomorrow, surround yourself with sorrowWhat do you do when your love breaks up?
Do you fall apart like a butter cup?
Forget about tomorrow, surround yourself with sorrowWatch the water falling down
Like a neon in your head
The neon's flashing off and on
Recalling everything he said
You've lost the fight for love today
Your dreams are shattered, thrown awayWhat do you do when your love breaks up?
Do you fall apart like a butter cup?
Forget about tomorrow, surround yourself with sorrowWhat do you do when your love breaks up?
Do you fall apart like a butter cup?
Forget about tomorrow, surround yourself with sorrow

Songwriters
BILL MARTIN, PHIL COULTERPublished by Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/