221

April Divine

221 (April Divine - ADIII)

You are the water when I learn to swim.
You keep my head up, so I wouldn't drown.
You are my fire, when I am cold.
But you can heal me...

I don't see no one else for me that knows me like you Do you understand, how much you matter to me.

You are the aspirin for my head.
You are the gasoline when I need fuel.
You are the cure. I'm the pain.
But I adore you. I can love you.

I don't see, no one else but you, you're all I need. You're all I wanna
Do you understand, how much you matter to me.

I am the splinter you can't find! I can help you bring it out.
I am the candle that burnt to the ground. You can throw it all away.
How you choose, how you decide, is what I cannot understand, but I'm glad. That you...

See, there's no one else but you, you put a smile on every day, when we are two to one, I feel so frustrated.
Can't you see! (how much you) how much you matter to me! See, and do you understand, how you matter to me now.

Lyrics submitted by Maynard.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/