

Unmarked Helicopters

Soul Coughing

Whose song is that remembered?
At random serpentine
Through fatty coils emerging
Some other thought is thinking This light stands above
The houses on the ground
This illumination
Visited upon the whole land Unmarked helicopters hovering
The Lord is coming soon Here comes the super copter
Here comes the noise it makes
The demon was an idea
The demon is awake A scratch mark left across
The surface of your mind
This hour, now upon us
The hour has now arrived Unmarked helicopters hovering
The Lord is coming soon Unmarked helicopters hovering
Though they said it was a weather balloon But I know the truth
And I know the whole she bang
And I know the names of men they had to hang I let her out the trunk
Heard what she said at them
They've come to drag us through the double m It goes black black black black and blacker
It goes black black black black and blacker
It goes black black black black and blacker
It goes black black black black and blacker Unmarked helicopters hovering
The Lord is coming soon Unmarked helicopters hovering
Though they said it was a weather balloon It was a weather balloon
It was a weather balloon
It was a weather balloon
It was a weather balloon
