

While the Eyes Still Move In the Head

Echo Orbiter

I have learned being close ends in pain
Tell me please if I am what I seem
All my life I have given it all I could afford to make an attempt
To understand love, life, and loss

I still see the faces of Everyone and places of
My growing past and with every
Fleeting moment fading on
No cease in wonder mildly hints
All the things in love extinct
Resigned to memories are left to love

The silent treatment breaches secrets
Under bridges; along rivers
Catastrophic calendar
They attack on holidays
Guilty by a jury of your peers
Sentenced to a life alone

One by one undone; Bye!
So Long! I can cross my door now

One by one undone; Bye!
So Long! I can cross my door now

I have learned being close ends in pain
Tell me please if I am what I seem
All my life I have given it all I could afford to make an attempt
To understand love, life, and loss

Fall back on sleeping life when pills arenâ€™t working
