

All My Life

David Wilcox

Do you believe in signs that whisper inside your mind 'till you have to follow through, Leading you home again to someplace you've never been? Well I feel that way for you.
For how can it be true, the first time I see you,
I look into your eyes,
And suddenly I knew you all my life. Don't we have all that time: treasure that's yours and mine, and a place that we call home
Don't we have photographs taken a long time back
Of the seasons we have known? I know it's strange to say, when we just met this way, but I look into your eyes,
And suddenly I knew you all my life.
So I'll take the chance and tell you,
Before the chance is gone,
So at least I won't be wondering
The rest of my life long.
